

Links to Children’s Books about Autism, Alternative Communication, Sensory Processing and Stimming

Topic	Image	Title	Description	Link
Autism		Remarkable Remy by Melanie Heyworth	Remarkable Remy is a warm and optimistic story that introduces an Autistic character to a young audience.	bookshop.org
Autism		A Friend for Henry by Jenn Bailey	This book follows the journey of an autistic boy, Henry, and his journey of making friends.	bookshop.org
Autism and Siblings		Benji, the Bad Day, and Me by Sally J. Pla	This heartwarming story highlights a family’s journey in balancing siblings with different personalities and needs.	bookshop.org
Autism (non-fiction)		The Girl Who Thought in Pictures – The Story of Dr. Temple Grandin by Julia Finley Mosca	This picture book biography celebrates the life of Dr. Temple Grandin, an autistic scientist.	bookshop.org
Neurodiversity		Wonderfully Wired Brains- An Introduction to the World of Neurodiversity by Louise Gooding	This nonfiction book celebrates neurodiversity, including autism. The kid-friendly explanations and colorful diagrams help kids understand the beautiful differences in the human brain’s workings.	bookshop.org
Autism and siblings		My Brother Charlie by Holly Robinson Peete	Based on a true story of twins, this picture book explores Autism through the eyes of a sibling.	bookshop.org
Alternative Communication		A day with no words by Tiffany Hammond	A Day with No Words illuminates the many unique ways people can understand each other, even if they don't speak.	bookshop.org
Alternative Communication		Hide and Shh! by Christina Dendy	This book provides examples of communicating through sign language and picture cards.	bookshop.org

Alternative Communication		More than Words: So Many Ways to Say What We Mean by Roz MacLean	This children's book is a great introduction to Augmentative and Alternative Communication.	bookshop.org
Sensory Needs		Don't Hug Doug (He Doesn't Like It) by Carrie Finison	This book focuses on children with different sensory needs. In this book you meet Doug, an ordinary kid who doesn't like hugs. This fun and exuberant story aims to spark discussions about bodily autonomy and consent	bookshop.org
Sensory Needs- Spanish Edition		No abrazar a Gaspar (No le va a gustar) by Carrie Finison	Spanish Edition of Don't Hug Doug	bookshop.org
Sensory Processing Needs		My Brain is Magic: A Sensory-Seeking Celebration By Prasha Sooful	This sensory-seeking celebration shines a light on neurodiversity and sensory processing in a fun and action-packed way for all children to enjoy.	bookshop.org
Sensory Overload		When things get too loud: A story about sensory overload By Anne Alcott	When things get too loud is a story about sensory overload, how it feels, what can trigger it and what may help. The Feel-O-Meter provides the child and parents with a visual guide through emotions and the books comes with ideas to cope with overwhelming situations.	bookshop.org
Sensory Overstimulation		Too Much!: An Overwhelming Day Jolene Gutiérrez	Children with autism can feel overwhelmed when their senses are stimulated. This book about sensory overload can help parents, teachers, and friends support this common challenge with autism	bookshop.org
Stimming		Flap Your Hands – A Celebration of Stimming by Steve Asbell	Stimming is a repetitive action that can feel soothing for autistic children. This book about autism shows how hand flapping, a common type of stimming, can feel calming and helpful for kids.	bookshop.org

